

A person should leave over a slight amount of food in the corner of his plate, but no food needs to be left in the serving bowl.